So this is it! Exams over, semesters over, months over and some of you already had your 'lasts' of college life without even realizing how the seconds ebbed away in the disguise of all the tests, assignments, presentations, missing classes, staying up late gaming and... I'll leave it to you. And soon will come the cruel 'adult world' welcoming you into its arms but let's not dampen our spirits with those thoughts, at least for now.

For now, let's bask ourselves in the pain and beauty of endings. Oftentimes beginnings take the glory in the lives of men and I feel we don't really give endings her deserved appreciation. And most often than not we have rushed goodbyes or worse, we don't even get to say goodbye and only realize later on, the opportunities we've missed. A chance to say 'thank you', 'sorry', 'goodbye'...you know best and yet chances to say those words we've kept in our hearts 'for when we part'.

As each of us leaves a little bit of ourselves in the people we meet and get to know, let's take great care to only leave the beauty of our beings so you and I do not recoil at the thought of one another. And let us say our goodbyes without reservations.

“Goodbyes make you think. They make you realize what you’ve had, what you’ve lost, and what you’ve taken for granted.” – Ritu Ghatourey
