

Editorial

With all the terror going around in the world, we sit in the comfort of our own rooms waiting and preparing for our own terror (end term exam) that is just around the corner. But before the floodgates of stress are opened, let's look back on the month that is gone and the events that took place and savor those moments because it's not coming back.

We all get lost in life with all the bustling going around in this competitive world, which makes us blind to all the little things that exist in our life. The pace of the world today is just too fast and while trying to keep up with the pace, we fail to appreciate and take for granted all the little things. Things like we use everyday, our simple food that we eat everyday, our family and friends and even the air that we breathe. It is a privilege that we fail to notice because for many it is the last breath they take before life runs out.

It's just like they say, "life moves too fast and if you don't stop and look around for a while, you will miss a lot of things."

The world is a competition and we are a part of it. It's a never ending hurdle of trying to be better, to have more in every aspect of life than the rest, all to be lost when death pays a visit. There is no harm in stopping and taking a break from the rat race of life, to take a moment and appreciate life itself for having enough of what we need and not more.

A total of 18 students and 2 teaching faculty from Modern College, Piphema were privileged to undertake the National Integration Tour (NIT) to Ahmedabad, Gujarat which was sponsored by 7 Assam Rifles under Assam Rifles Project 2023-24. The journey started with a flagging off ceremony at 7 Assam Rifles HQ. We left Dimapur Railway Station on 29th September at 12:17 am and we arrived at New Delhi railway station by the afternoon of 30th September. We visited the Red Fort or Lal Qila located at Old Delhi, India Gate and National War Memorial which stands as a memorial to 84,000 soldiers of the Indian Army who sacrificed their lives during the WWI during our short stop at Delhi after which we left for Ahmedabad at 7:55 in the evening.

After reaching Ahmedabad at around 8:15 in the morning of 1st October, we visited the auto world museum which is one of the biggest personal collections of vintage cars, bikes, buggies and utility vehicles. We also visited Akshardham Temple at Gandhinagar where we also enjoyed a light and water show. The second day started with a long ride to visit the statue of unity which is the tallest statue in the world and located at Kevadia colony. On 3rd October we were honored to meet the GOC and all officers of the Golden Katar Division and got to experience a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity of riding a tank as well. After that we headed to visit the Sabarmati Ashram which is also famously known as Gandhi Ashram and ended the day with a visit to Atal bridge.

The next day we were all excited to visit the prestigious IIM (INDIAN INSTITUTE OF MANAGEMENT) Ahmedabad which has produced personalities like Mallika Sarabhai, Raghuram Rajan and Chetan Bhagat. After the visit we proceeded to ISRO Ahmedabad which is also known as Vikram Sarabhai Space Exhibition where we got to learn about the miracles of outer space.

We were able to experience not just the beautiful places and scenic views of Ahmedabad but also the delicious food which were all new to us. Shopping around the bazaars and malls is something we would definitely want to experience again. Our eventful journey also saw us getting the stadium experience with the first match of the ICC MEN'S CRICKET WORLD CUP between England and New Zealand. Our last stop at Ahmedabad was Science City after which we took our leave of the city and headed back East.

We definitely savored every bits and pieces of Ahmedabad; from the varieties of food to the malls and people and everything in between. Thank you Ahemdabad for the experience and thank you 7 ASSAM RIFLES for this beautiful opportunity that combined adventure, excitement and learning in the most enjoyable way.

Nagaland's Role in Northeast India's Empowerment

Nagaland, the jewel of India's Northeast, might be one of the smallest states in the region, but its role in empowering the entire Northeast is nothing short of remarkable. Like that persistent little sister who always surprises you with her determination, Nagaland has made significant contributions to the development and progress of this diverse and vibrant part of the country.

Nagaland's journey to statehood in 1963 marked a significant turning point in the political landscape of the Northeast. It became one of the first states in the region to gain full statehood within the Indian Union. This achievement served as an inspiration and a guiding light for other northeastern states in asserting their identity and rights.

Nagaland's cultural diversity is a testament to the harmonious coexistence of various tribes and communities. This cultural mosaic is not just a source of pride for Nagaland but also a symbol of unity for the entire Northeast. It's like putting together a beautiful puzzle where each piece plays a crucial role in creating a vibrant picture. Improving connectivity and infrastructure is a cornerstone of regional empowerment, and Nagaland has been actively engaged in this endeavour. The state has been working tirelessly to enhance its road and rail networks, making it easier for goods and people to move within and beyond its borders. It's like building pathways to prosperity, one road at a time.

While agriculture remains the backbone of Nagaland's economy, the state is proactively diversifying its economic base. Initiatives to promote tourism and handicrafts are opening up new avenues for growth and development. Nagaland's economic progress doesn't just benefit the state itself but contributes to the prosperity of the entire Northeast. Empowerment is intrinsically linked to education and skill development and Nagaland recognises this. The state is committed to improving its education system and nurturing a skilled workforce which not only enhances opportunities within Nagaland but also bolsters the human resource pool for the entire region.

Nagaland, though small in size, stands tall as a beacon of progress and empowerment in India's Northeast. Its journey from a humble beginning to a trailblazing state serves as an inspiration to the entire region. Whether it's in politics, infrastructure, culture, economy, education or environmental conservation, Nagaland's contributions ripple across the Northeast like a steadfast little sister who continues to surprise and impress. As Nagaland continues to progress and thrive, it sets a shining example for the entire Northeast, highlighting the strength that lies in preserving tradition while embracing progress and peace. Together, the states of the Northeast can forge a brighter, more empowered future for themselves and the entire nation.

Women's Plight in Manipur: A General Insight

Beneath the serene surface of Manipur's landscape lies a troubling saga of ethnic discord that threatens to unravel the social harmony of the region. The ongoing conflict deeply rooted in the complex interplay of identities between the Meitei and the Kuki communities has revealed a distressing reality: women's bodies used as battlegrounds and tools to exert dominance.

The heart of Manipur's crisis lies in the intricate tapestry of its ethnic groupings. The generally accepted cause leading to the recent clashes is considered to be the seeking of Scheduled Tribe (ST) status by the Meiteis and which is staunchly opposed by the Kukis. This embodies a discord and reflecting not just differing ethnicity but also historical narratives. While the economic and political dimensions cannot be ruled out yet the crisis is predominantly an outcome due to collision of ethnic aspirations. The kuki people's connection to the land and the Meiteis pursuit of ST status stands as a symbol of contested narratives, stretching back to generations.

In the midst of this complex ethnic battle, like in any warfare, women again have to bear the brunt of the tragic casualties. Beyond the struggle for identity and resources, they face a harrowing plight of being systematically weaponised and violated. With the intensification of clashes the plight of women often goes unseen and ignored. Realities of women assault, torture, sexual predation et al often take a backstage and remain mostly concealed. Victims are often silenced by the vortex of conflict and the weight of pretext societal norms and sacrifice. The disturbing manifestation of this turmoil is the weaponization of women in the form of the two unfortunate women being subjected to dehumanizing treatment which is a brutal testament of how women become soft targets in the theatre of conflict/wars. The National Commission for Women (NCW) had informed a 46% rise in crime against women in the first eight months of 2021. The conflict statistics if compiled will reveal an even darker picture of the first eight months in 2023. Where do the government fit in the legislative framework for women and women empowerment schemes for conflict torn state of Manipur. In this turbulent chapter, Manipur's women should not be reduced to mere statistics. Atrocities have to be stopped immediately and accountability ensured for the violence inflicted and borne by the women folk.

Amidst this ethnic chaos grappling Manipur, the pain, the resilience and the robust fortitude displayed by the women must not be forgotten. It is these same virtues that offer a glimpse of hope amid the confusion and darkness. The need therefore, rest in adopting a holistic review and effort not only to seek justice from the court of law but the involvement of all stakeholders including the law makers, police officers, NGO's, the forensics, rehabilitation centres and the civil organisations. If India, the largest democracy is to ensure a truly plural state then for sure, the government must first guarantee the safety, protection and justice of women: the Homemakers and the Nation builders.
